

BARTENDER NOW CHANGES STORY

After Declaring Owen Was Not Man Who Entered Saloon He Reverses Opinion.

EFFORT TO SHIELD SULLIVAN.

Attempt to Make It Now Appear as Though Owen Was the Man Who Killed Officer Ford.

The return of Joe Sullivan, charged with the murder of Police Officer Charles S. Ford, the robbery and hold-up at the Albany bar and other crimes, is still a chief topic of discussion in this city. As to the evidence against the desperado it is a matter of conjecture outside of police circles. The authorities still maintain they have much evidence against the man and believe they will be able to connect him directly with the murder of the officer.

Since he was remanded to the custody of the sheriff, Sullivan has been confined in the county jail and has been denied the privilege of seeing his lawyers. Several persons called to see him but they were not permitted to enter his cell. Late Saturday afternoon he sent for Allys J. H. Bailey, Jr., and F. E. Vickery. The latter caused a conference with the accused murderer. Detective Stanton visited Sullivan yesterday and had a talk with him, but it is said he secured any material statement from the prisoner. It is being kept secret for the time being.

NEW THEORY.

As to who fired the shot that killed Policeman Ford, another theory has been advanced. It is believed that it was not Owen who fired the shot but Sullivan. The new story is that Owen, the man now serving 20 years as a result of his confession of complicity in the Albany bar affair, is the man who actually fired the shot that killed Ford.

BUCKLEY'S SUDDEN CHANGE.

This is the belief of J. A. Buckley, landlord at the Albany bar, which was robbed on the morning of Dec. 14, a few seconds before the murder of the officer. Buckley says he now believes that Owen was not the man who fired the shot from the cash till while Sullivan stood guard at the door. The statement seems rather peculiar in view of the fact that, the morning of the arrest of Owen, the men who were held up in the robbery called on Buckley to shield him from prosecution for murder, and that he confessed to complicity in the robbery and took the 20-year sentence in a hurry to escape a murder charge. Buckley says he believed that the men were in the robbery for the reason that the taller man of the two, believed to have been Sullivan, kept guard at the door and peered out several times, while the shorter man, said to be Owen, went behind the bar and took the money.

HAS A MAIMED HAND.

Two fingers are missing from Owen's right hand. Buckley says the man who went behind the bar used his left hand in getting the money and was careful to keep his right hand concealed under the counter. The smaller man of the two appeared quite nervous and threatened several times to shoot Buckley. The robber who stood guard at the door cautioned his companion to be quick and hurry when the money was in his hand. Buckley also says that Owen had been in the saloon several times and knew that in a particular drawer from $5,000 to $10,000 was kept from the saloon called by the work in cash checks for railroad employes. The robber behind the bar tried the drawer when the money was kept and ordered Buckley to open it, threatening to shoot if he did not comply with the order. Buckley said he did not have the key.

FOUND SAME BRAND.

When the robber behind the bar started to leave, he went to a package of Turkish cigarettes. When Owen was searched at the police station a box of Turkish cigarettes was found on him. The shooting of Ford indicated that the man who fired the shot did so through extreme nervousness or because of an insane desire to kill. The theory advanced by Buckley is being carefully investigated and the officers are confident that the truth will be revealed within a few days.

WILL NOT HELP HIM.

But whether Owen fired the shot or not will not help Sullivan in the least. If Owen was with Sullivan when the murder was committed, there is reason to believe the man will testify against Sullivan with a view to shielding himself. The fact that Owen is doing a term of twenty years will not prevent the authorities from filing a charge of murder against him if the facts in the case warrant that step. The theory advanced by Buckley is being carefully investigated and the officers are confident that the truth will be revealed within a few days.

PROF. M'CLELLAN HOME.

Warmly Received in Fresno, Where He Dedicated New Organ.

Prof. J. J. McClellan has returned from Fresno, Cal., where he went to open a new $8,500 organ in the First Methodist church. There were over 2,000 people in the audience, and the fact that he was so heavily endorsed as to make the program two hours and twenty minutes long, evidences the warmth of the reception accorded to the Salt Lake artist. There were several recalls for the final number on the program, and the performer says he was never more heartily welcomed than when he returned to Salt Lake. He has been invited to give a return concert at Fresno. It is a probability that he will do so. Clarence Eddy opened the first organ of the Fresno church five years ago. The church burned down two years ago, and this is the organ in the new edifice. Prof. McClellan was called upon to dedicate, instead of Clarence Eddy being sent for again. The Fresno press

You dont really know what's good until you use Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate. As the bad effects of coffee and wishy-washy coffee substitutes are more generally recognized and understood, the use of Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate as a beverage becomes more general. It is the experience of thousands who have substituted chocolate for coffee that not only do they find it a more delicious beverage, but their general health is greatly improved. This is due to the fact that this chocolate is not a mere stimulant, but it is a perfect food, which is readily digested and assimilated by the most sensitive stomachs. Chocolate, used regularly, is a remedy for chronic depression. Undoubtedly the purest, most delicious and most convenient chocolate on the market is Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate. It is the original genuine ground chocolate and is made by a special process which blends the chocolate and sugar in such a manner as to render it easily digestible and at the same time produces an exquisite flavor. Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate for chronic purposes will be found vastly superior to the out-of-date cake chocolates—it is more convenient to use, and imparts to everything in which it is used a delightful flavor.

is enthusiastic over the Salt Lake organ, and the Democratic societies. "It must have given the church congregation immense satisfaction to behold the magnificent instrument that they had worked for so long at last in place, and to hear its full capabilities brought out by a master hand. At the close of the program many of the audience remained to meet the organist and become better acquainted with the organ itself. The program was keenly enjoyed and was a success in every particular. The church congregation is to be congratulated for its successful effort in bringing here one of the finest organs in the United States." Prof. McClellan scored for orchestra, his new song, "Vision's Dream," which Fred Graham is to sing at the tabernacle concert to be given in honor of the Dry Farming congress.

Make a note now to get Ely's Cream Balm. If you are troubled with nasal catarrh, hay fever or cold in the head, it is purifying and soothing to the sensitive membrane that lines the air-passages. It is made to overcome the evidence of a cold, to relieve the head by a short, deceptive relief. There is no cocaine nor mercury in it. Do not be talked into taking a substitute for Ely's Cream Balm. All druggists sell it. Price 5c. Sold by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

WAS HIGHLY ESTEEMED.

Obsequies of Charles Bishop Held in Twenty-Fourth Ward.

The Twenty-fourth ward meeting-house was crowded yesterday afternoon, on the occasion of the funeral of Charles Bishop, whose sudden death from hemorrhage of the lungs occurred during the previous week. That the deceased was held in high esteem was evidenced by the large number of friends. The obsequies were conducted by Bishop William Wood. The speakers were Elders William R. Jones, David James, John South and Bishop Wood. Samuel Winter sang the solo, "Love Divine" and a quartet rendered several selections. Interment was in the city cemetery.

TEMPERANCE WORKER TALKS.

Miss Lucy Broad Speaks of W. C. T. U. Work in the Orient.

Miss Lucy Broad of Cornwall, Eng., spoke last night in the Hiff Methodist church on Japan and Korea. She said beer drinking was common in Japan, but there was little drunkenness, although there is danger of intoxication increasing on account of the importation of foreign spirits. Miss Broad reported the W. C. T. U. work in Tokyo, as well established, with a new Home building in immediate prospect. During the Russian war, the W. C. T. U. made and sent to the soldiers 60,000 comfort bags, each containing a Bible, needles, thread, tooth powder, picture cards, combs and similar articles. One of these bags was displayed, together with several curiosities, among which were the "Nico" monkeys, with the hands over the eyes, ears and mouth, symbolical of the Japanese Maxim: "See no evil; hear no evil; speak no evil."

NEGRESS HIGHWAYMEN.

Colored Women Figure in Another Holdup at County Building Grounds.

The negress, playing the highway, is busy. Two of them held up Ralph Wagner, 158 south Fifth East street, Saturday evening in the county building grounds. It was about 6 o'clock, the two women taking a long chance at not being seen. One negress, very tall and muscular, pulled a gun and held guard over Wagner, while her companion, a short, slight woman, went through his pockets. Finding but $2.45 the women called their victim a cheap guy. They permitted him to go upon getting his money, telling him to hurry home. Instead of doing this, Wagner reported the police station, where he reported the matter. Jacob Chapman, who robbed at the county building Friday evening, remembers seeing a negress bending over him after something had struck him in the head.

of one and there is a good reason for the small decrease in this one organization. Josephine Rasband sang, "Beyond the Gates of Paradise."

PREST. A. H. SCHULTZESS.

President Arnold H. Schultzess said: "I have listened and no doubt you all have to the report given by President Cannon, and I agree with him that after looking over the reports of the various organizations for the year 1907, we have found many things which are very gratifying. One thing came to my notice and that is the observance of fast day. President Cannon has made our duty clear in regard to paying fast offerings, and no doubt each of us has determined in our heart to do our duty better in the future than we have done in the past. There are none of us who need to suffer for the necessities of life for there is abundance for all and it is through the blessings of the Lord that we enjoy these things. The paying of our fast offerings, however, is not our full duty in the observance of fast day."

PREST. JOHN R. WINDER.

President John R. Winder said he was very thankful to his Father in heaven for the privilege of meeting with the saints in this conference and hearing the interesting report of the presidency of the stake, and seeing the good attendance of the stake presidency, high council, presidency of the high priests' quorums and all these little boys of the deacons' quorums and representatives of the auxiliary organizations and priesthood quorums. This meeting has been very interesting, he said, showing the increase and the healthy condition which is found in your different localities. Special reference had been made to the fast offerings which are made. He had thought sometimes that the people do not understand the subject. "I do not understand that it is so much dollars and cents as it is the blessings which are given to those who observe it. I have no doubt that if the people in this meeting who observe this rule were allowed to spend their money to express their thanks for the blessing they enjoy." President Winder read the fifty-eighth chapter of Isaiah on the subject of fasting and commented briefly thereon.

PREST. ANTHON H. LUND.

President Anthon H. Lund said that he felt very happy to be present and had enjoyed very much the good spirit prevailing, and he felt that the Liberty stake is looked after and that the brethren who preside are diligent in their labors. He was glad to hear of the excellent conditions existing in the stake and all of the marked blessings in the various auxiliary organizations. He hoped that all present would observe the counsel given at the meeting. President Lund emphasized some things spoken of in the observance of fast day. The Lord blesses those who look after the poor and make his their duty, to clothe the naked and feed the hungry. He said that the Prophet Joseph had established this rule by inspiration and he did not suppose that the prophet had ever read that this same thing was done in the times of the apostles before the Church was re-established in this day. "We should fast and pray and the Lord will give strength to break the bands of wickedness. We are beginning a new year; let us rid ourselves of all wrongs that may exist. We have not the grosser sins, but rather little sins of neglect which will grow into bigger ones."

sake all that is unworthy and wrong, and brings a condition of unity and love between man and man. The Latter-day Saints are sincere in the claims they make that the Church is the one recognized of heaven. Easier for them, bringing less criticism, had the founder of Mormonism simply proclaimed the principles believed by him, rather than to declare against the divinity of other sects and creeds. But one of the first commandments received by him from the Father was to listen to the Son, and the Savior's words to the boys were to the effect that all churches professing His name had gone astray. The Latter-day Saints do not fail to give credit where credit is due to all who have striven to establish true principles on earth. To the reformers belong a strong need of praise for their labors in this direction. Yet none of them ever announced themselves as having been especially raised up by divine calling to restore the gospel, which most of them proclaimed, had departed from the faith. On the other hand, Joseph Smith had a direct commission to again proclaim the message of salvation and establish once more the Church of Christ as it existed primitively. The speaker quoted from the words of Rev. Newman Smith to the effect that the formation of a church might be expected that would contain the elements of Catholic organization and discipline, with the independence and individuality of Protestantism. This, Elder Howard said, was in direct line with the prophecies of Nephi regarding the establishment of the Church of Christ in latter days and has been fulfilled in the mission of Joseph Smith.

ELDER HEBER J. GRANT.

Elder Heber J. Grant of the council of the apostles was the next speaker. He said he was convinced there had never been more unity in the Church nor a higher regard for the presiding authorities thereof than at the present time. In all the stakes the presidents of stakes and leading men are living more exemplary lives than ever before. No weapon formed against Zion has or will triumph, and opposition and opposers fade away as they before the morning sun. The meetings of the six stakes now existing in this city and county are more largely attended, respectively, than was the case of the old Salt Lake stake, when composed of all. The Latter-day Saints exercise a stronger individuality and independence than any other people, and the statements often made that they are blindly subservient to the rule of their leaders are not founded on fact. The speaker related instances of the ostracism that has followed many members of the Church upon their acceptance of Mormonism, some even having been driven forth into the night because they would not reject that which their conscience told them was true. That is the kind of mental Latter-day Saints are made of, and to say that such persons, after coming to Utah will bend to men said to be shrewdly dishonest, is an absurdity. The rank and file of Mormonism are made up of men and women who are honest, virtuous, fearless and independent, and there is no sacrifice too great for them to make for the sake of their religion. Men who increase in knowledge, virtue and good deeds do not forsake the gospel of Jesus Christ; but the contrary is true, said the speaker. Of the thousands of missionaries who have gone into the world during the last 75

The Latter-day Saints are sincere in the claims they make that the Church is the one recognized of heaven. Easier for them, bringing less criticism, had the founder of Mormonism simply proclaimed the principles believed by him, rather than to declare against the divinity of other sects and creeds. But one of the first commandments received by him from the Father was to listen to the Son, and the Savior's words to the boys were to the effect that all churches professing His name had gone astray. The Latter-day Saints do not fail to give credit where credit is due to all who have striven to establish true principles on earth. To the reformers belong a strong need of praise for their labors in this direction. Yet none of them ever announced themselves as having been especially raised up by divine calling to restore the gospel, which most of them proclaimed, had departed from the faith. On the other hand, Joseph Smith had a direct commission to again proclaim the message of salvation and establish once more the Church of Christ as it existed primitively. The speaker quoted from the words of Rev. Newman Smith to the effect that the formation of a church might be expected that would contain the elements of Catholic organization and discipline, with the independence and individuality of Protestantism. This,
